

PRESSURE

PRESSURE

I would never apply the breaks
This inconceivably long drive has a destination
From A to B, its point of arrival lies in its journey
I was never keen on just being a fossil fuel
The diamond with jagged edge was the promised deliverance
If you are destined to ride with me
Then my suggestions would be to let go of gravity
Because my love isn't the same
The affection I provide is filling and freeing
Captivating and all encompassing
For all the tests it'll put you through
Breakthrough after breakthrough
An indestructible stone is what will become of me and you
