

the duality of
CONSCIOUSNESS

the Duality of Consciousness

There is duality in all that exists and that which does not for existence and its absence are borne of one another and their polarity gives them consciousness as well as paralleled oneness.

In an effort to control all that we find ourselves, at times we do more harm because we personalise the order and chaos that we are confronted by. Keep in mind that there is nothing new under the sun.

The analogy of infinite possibilities tells us that anything and everything that can happen has already taken place. There is no past or future, only the now. So with that being said, be mindful of the laws of Detachment and Presence. Master the art of doing both in unison.

food for thought
