

Contagious

Contagious

Should it be worth mentioning that the feeling should overwhelm with intricacies tapered towards enchantment

If it is provocative then how can it not break the mould
Something different and completely unexpected to the end

When it shares the notions of a dream state
Not knowing when and how it started
But adrift in the midst of it all

What it could accomplish is noteworthy
What it does accomplish cannot be defined by the consummated

Can all this be a phantasm
Can it be personified and manifested into matter
Whether you believe in the magic of it all or not Know that what I speak of is real

I am the infectious
I am an epidemic
I am contagious

