I'll begin with the set tutorial
Sweat and tears you once shed as a cause of past measures
The skill of paying attention is taken lightly despite its impact
Talk to me & pass sacred knowledge of things that entice you
If I sit back and take notes I might learn a thing
I'm all ears and I show deep interest in what you share
Mentally stimulated when we stare into each other's eyes
No such thing as an awkward silence exists in these parts
Nonverbal communication is the elephant in the room
It cannot be ignored nor will I try to look passed it
How difficult it becomes to keep your hands to yourself
And all we've done is have a conversation
A dialogue that gets me inside you
I think I know you as far as you let on and allow to be known
I am comfortable and so are you

Am I free to touch you?
