

LET ME BE vol.²

LET ME BE vol. 2

Frustration crept in eons ago
Here we are standing at the edge of oblivion
And the only thing stopping me from jumping
Is the fear of the unknown
So afraid of being alone that I subject myself
To the traumas of darkness that cripple
My knees weak, arms heavy, heart bleeding
And all along rationale urges me to leap in the name of faith
To let go of us
Let it all air out while our ashes fall like winter snowflakes
Burnt to the ground
Having done this already with only one act remaining
For you to let me be
